Girl Scouts host adult volunteer recruitment event

WATERLOO, Iowa – An adult recruitment event is planned this month by Girl Scouts in Waterloo in an effort to find more volunteers to assist the organization.

The volunteers can give time on their schedule, either on a regular or as-needed basis. While many parents of girls become involved with Girl Scouts, those without daughters also can join as volunteers.

Volunteers can receive training to acquire skills necessary in their work with Girl Scouts, but they also can bring to the organization skills they already possess. Volunteering offers not only networking with other volunteers, but also helps some acquire new skills that can be used on the job or in other volunteer capacities.

The adult recruitment event will be from 6 to 7 p.m. July 28 at the Waterloo office of Girl Scouts of Eastern Iowa & Western Illinois, 2530 University Ave., Suite 1. Adults will be given information that evening about the various volunteer opportunities available within the organization.

Persons planning on attending the event should call Jenna McNally at 319-232-6601 or by e-mail at JennaM@GSEIWI.org

Girl Scout volunteers can change a life forever through their service to the organization. Persons who would like to explore the possibility of serving girls in their community as a Girl Scouts volunteer also may contact Girl Scouts by calling 800-798-0833 or checking the Web at www.GSEIWI.org.
